Headteacher's Message

Dear Parents & Carers,

Spring term is over...roll on summer!

Your children have worked very hard this term and I hope you have enjoyed the samples of their work/activities that we have shown you via Google classroom, Twitter and this newsletter. I would like to firstly thank the children, they are what makes our school and secondly you, for all your help and support. We as a staff really value the collaboration with you, it makes your child's school experience far richer when they see that we are working together.

The timing of Holy Week and Easter this year means that it comes right at the end of the school holiday and we will 'celebrate' Easter together when we return on Wednesday April 20th. Year 3 will lead an assembly for children on St Peter's site and every class has contributed a 'Station' for a 'Way of the Cross' which will be used for worship in every class on our return. Please can I encourage you to take part in the Easter services at St Peter's church, please use this link to look for further details: stpeterinchains.com

This week has been Autism Acceptance Week. An event that encourages people all over the UK to open conversations about autism, raise understanding and peer awareness, and better the wellbeing of autistic people. In the UK, over 1 in 100 people are autistic and the number of children receiving an autism diagnosis is rising. In many classes the children have been discussing how being autistic may mean thinking, learning and acting differently. Tomorrow we encourage you to wear blue to raise awareness of autism in our community and if you look carefully you may notice blue candles/lights in many windows. For further information please follow the link below;

I would like to thank The Friends' in advance for organising the fund raising non uniform day and the Easter event after school today, we will have more details of funds raised etc. after the holiday

It is with sadness that we bid Ms Fulton a fond farewell today, thanking her for her service to our school community and wishing her every success in her new job, we know she will not be a stranger and we hope to see her at summer events!

Wishing you and your children a good rest and a Blessed Easter .

Miss Robertson

This week's highlights

4P were given a blank map of an area we have been studying in geography and history. Children used their learning of the Roman Empire and the Rhine and Mediterranean to label it with extraordinary detail and precision.

4C really enjoyed exploring symmetrical shapes during gymnastics this week.

Year 6 bid a fond farewell to Ms Fulton.

This week, 5A rehearsed in groups, then read the story 'The Dam' by David Almond as a class performance. It was very dramatic and a fitting way to completing our learning from this beautiful picture book.
